Branding Queens Women Book Club Ideas

The Royal Treatment

The best way to celebrate these incredible branding queens' accomplishments is to pamper yourself with some of their products. Wear your favorite Chanel, Claiborne, or Burch outfit. Finish your ensemble with your favorite fragrance from C.J. Walker, Arden, Chanel, Lauder, Kay, or The Body Shop. And toast the queens' success with an exquisite glass of Veuve Clicquot champagne. Here are some entertaining ideas to make this book event regal.

Champagne & Cheese

Of course, Veuve Clicquot champagne is obvious, but many other champagnes and sparkling wines can work (budgets & tastes). Clicquot website suggests hard cheeses such as Gouda young Comte and Tomme de Montagne. Brie, Camembert, Gruyere, and Parmesan also go well.

Champagne & Dessert

Maybe try a sweeter champagne like a demi-sec or doux to go with sweet desserts. Keeping with a French theme you can serve French pastries like Macaroons, Choux à la crème (cream puffs), Éclair and Canelés, to name a few. Check out www.france-hotel-guide.com/en/blog/french-pastries/

Tea Party

In true royal fashion, have a pot of afternoon blend tea with savory finger sandwiches like cucumber, egg salad, smoked salmon with pastries, cakes, and indulgent scones with jams and cream.
https://www.marthastewart.com/2116381/afternoon-tea-party-recipes
https://insanelygoodrecipes.com/tea-party-recipes/

Coffee Party

Maybe a nice French roast coffee or Starbucks French roast to accompany a selection of Pepperidge Farm classic cookies or freshly baked chocolate chip cookies like Mrs. Fields cookie.
www.pepperidgefarm.com/product-categories/cookies/
mamaneedscake.com/mrs-fields-copycat-chocolate-chip-cookies/

Favorite Color

Many of the branding queens had a favorite color. So you can theme the event around one of their favorite colors, like the color PINK. Or you can have the members pick their favorite branding queen and dress in their favorite color. To find out the branding queens' color, visit www.rozdeba.com/branding-queens-in-images/. Or select a color to theme the event's food and drink. Or have everyone wear their favorite color. The color options are endless.

Be a Queen

These women had to think outside the box to achieve their dreams. If your book club members were all queens for a day, what would you do? Book a spa? A girl's weekend or night at a fancy hotel? A private catered dinner? A ski weekend? A wine tour? A shopping spree? High tea at a premium hotel? Brunch, lunch, or dinner at the best restaurant in town? Your only limit is your imagination and budget.

www.rozdeba.com/branding-queens/